AS TO GERMAN "KULTUR."

There is a settled and assured future if we win, writes Conan Doyle in the December Strand. There is darkness and trouble is we lose. But if we take a broader sweep and trace the meanings of this contest as they affect others of its history, and one or other of two opposite principles, the rule of the soldier or the rule of the citizen, must now prevail. In this sense we fight for the masses of the German people, as some day they will understand, to free them from that formidable military caste which has used and abused them, spending their bodies in an unjust war and poisoning their minds by every device which could inflame them against those who wish nothing save to live at peace with them. We fight for the strong, deep Germany of old, the Germany of music and of philosophy, against this monstrous modern aberration, the Germany of blood and iron, the Germany from which, instead of the old things of beauty, there comes to us only the rant of scolding professors with their final reckonings, their welt-politik, and their Godless theories of the superman who stands above morality, and to whom all humanity shall be subservient. Instead of the world-inspiring phrases of a Goethe or a Schiller, what are the words in the last decade which have been quoted across the sea? Are they not always the ever-recurring words of wrath from one ill-balanced man? "Strike them with the mailed fist," "Leave such a name behind you as Attila and his Huns," "Turn your weapons even upon your own flesh and blood at my command." These are the messages which have come from this perversion of a nation's soul.

"HIS SUPERFLUOUS EXCELLENCY."

Vice President Marshall did not reach Maysville last Wednesday as announced, but went from Georgetown to Cincinnati where he was a dinner guest of the Business Men's Club, and was the star speaker of the evening.

He said that the title, "His Superfluous Excellency," had been given before to the Vice President of the United States, and that it seemed to fit, because thousands of citizens of this country do not know the name of the Vice President and some do not know there is a Vice President.

The attractions of the office are more in prospect than in reality, he declared. In commenting on the recent elections, in which the Democrats were defeated in many states, he said: "Not having been a candidate at these elections, this indeed is a joyous Thanksgiving for me." He said he had been accused of being a "flannel-mouthed anarchist," but denied the truth of it. He said it was all right for everybody to get all the money they can honestly, but advised them to have the money "so clean that your grandchildren can bite into it without getting their mouths full of microbes."

EDWIN P. MORROW.

Edwin P. Morrow of Somerset, a clean, young Republican, will seek his party's nomination for Governor next year. Good! Morrow is all right as a Republican. He can start in bright and early to overcome a Democratic majority of 31,000 for Beckham and 44,000 for Camden. All he has to do is to defeat McDermott, Newman, McChesney, Bosworth, Hazelrigg, Hager, Stanley, Camden, or—let's see; did any of them get away? And that will be SOME job, believe us.—Cynthiana Democrat.

TWO HEADLINERS.

Des Moines people were not so much engrossed with "Billy" Sunday's sermons that Evelyn Nesbit Thaw failed to attract a crowded house.—Dubuque Times-Herald.

ONE TERM.

The election returns of November 3, quietly considered, lead to the conclusion that in choking the constitutional amendment in limiting all Presidents to one term President Wilson has destroyed an opportunity to terminate gracefully his relation to the government. It will be remembered that the Baltimore convention specifically declared against second terms, and that Professor Wilson accepted and agreed to stand by all the declarations of that convention. Evidently he made a mental reservation as to the one-term declaration. Quite likely his own party will conveniently forget it in 1916. Platforms, you know, are made to get in on, not to stand on. But the whole question may safely be left to the American people. They are very certain to decide that the Baltimore convention was right, and that one term of a Free-Trade administration is all that the country wants.

A SOLDIER IN FLANDERS.

The householder who has to go shivering into the cellar to shake the furnace on a cold morning may appreciate the joy of being a soldier in Flanders at this season of the year.—Washington Evening Star.

WANT TO BE SHOWN.

The little item from Washington asserting that Villa, in the interests of his native land, has consented to retire from the fray along with Carranza, is too good to be true.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

AN UNKIND THRUST.

We wonder how many $12-a-week employees of the Sugar Trust are forcing it to cheat under cover of the excitement about the war.—Ohio State Journal.

A TAFT TOUCH.

Having announced himself on the day following election as "reconciled to the result," Mr. Taft is now speaking of "the recent Progressive party."—Hartford Times.

THOSE USELESS HOLES.

Let us hope that the generous Swiss who have been forwarding gifts were kind enough to cut the holes out of their famous cheeses.—Washington Post.

FORTUNATE NEW YORK.

Mr. Glynn and Mr. Whitman may join New York in thanks that one "best governor ever" is to be followed by another.—Washington Star.

GEORGE'S TURN-DOWN.

"Married women, for purposes of flirtation, are preferred to girls at Palm Beach, Atlantic City and such like resorts. But married men haven't got any such advantage over single ones. Oh, no! Quite the contrary."

The speaker was Jerome S. McWade, the Duluth collector. He went on:

"When married men try to enter the lists of flirtation they always have the luck of Black."

"Black's wife said to him, as they were dressing for dinner in their Atlantic City hotel:

"George, I didn't like the way you stared at that pretty girl with the ermine furs on the pier."

"Well," growled George, "she didn't either."

A GOOD REASON WHY.

Hodge never discusses the tariff. That's remarkable. Why so? Hodge knows nothing about the tariff.

SCRAPPING.

The History of Mexico in 1914 will be merely a scrap book.

A DIPLOMATIC PARENT.

"What makes you think Colonel Dawson objects to his daughter's engagement to Billie Smithers?" asked Waterbury.

"Why," said Rankleigh, "he has just asked Billie to come around to the house to breakfast tomorrow morning, and— Oh, well, you know what the average girl looks like at breakfast, don't you?"—Judge.

JUDGE FOR YOURSELF

Which Is Better—Try An Experiment or Profit by a Maysville Citizen's Experience.

Something new is an experiment. Must be proved to be as represented. The statement of a manufacturer is not convincing proof of merit.

But the endorsement of friends is. Now supposing you had a bad back, a lame, weak, or aching one. Would you experiment on it? You will read of many so-called cures.

Endorsed by strangers from faraway places. It's different when the endorsement comes from home.

Easy to prove local testimony. Read this Maysville case: M. C. Chisholm, 317 E. Second St., Maysville, Ky., says: "There was a time when my kidneys were badly disordered and I was annoyed by many symptoms of kidney complaint. Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Wood & Son's Drug Store, removed the trouble and my good health since then is evidence of it. I have seen many other cases of kidney trouble. My former endorsement still holds good."

Don't simply remedy—get same that Mr. Chisholm used. M. C. Russell, Distributor.

RED CROSS COLUMN

SEAL ON EACH SOLE.

"Am I using Red Cross Christmas seals?" reiterated a good-natured old cobbler as he looked up from the shoe he was repairing to the person who stood blocking the doorway of his little shop, and who had asked the question originally. "I don't know of them. What are they for?" he asked.

When told that the little stickers were being sold all over the United States to raise money to prevent tuberculosis, the cobbler became very much interested.

"Now, I call that a good cause," he drawled. "I can't afford many, because I don't get very much work away out here in this end of town, but you can leave me ten of them."

"No, I don't write any letters, and I don't send any Christmas packages. There's just me and the old woman left. I can't use my seals that way, but I'll tell you how I can use them. I will stick one on the sole of every shoe I tap!"

PRESIDENT WILSON ON RED CROSS SEALS.

As an expression of his interest in the Red Cross seal and anti-tuberculosis campaign, President Wilson recently wrote to the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis:

"May I not take this occasion to express to you my deep interest in the work of the National Anti-Tuberculosis Association and my hope that its work is growing in efficiency and extent from year to year? May I not particularly express my interest in the Red Cross Christmas seal whose sale has been the means of raising funds for the work? It seems to me that this is a particularly interesting and sensible way of enabling the people of the country to give this great work their support."

SANTA HAS TUBERCULOSIS.

On Christmas eve little Dorothy, possessed of the whooping cough, was doing some fancy whooping for company that had come.

"Dorothy, dear," the mother said, "you must stop coughing or Santa Claus won't come. If he hears you coughing he'll be afraid to come in."

"I should worry," Dorothy replied, showing full familiarity with modern expression. "He's got tuberculosis himself."

"Tuberculosis! Who told you Santa Claus had tuberculosis?"

"Oh, everybody knows that. Don't you buy tuberculosis stamps for him every Christmas?"

It is a pretty difficult matter to bring up a child in the way the neighbors think it ought to go.

LUKE McLUKE SAYS

When a wise old crow of 30 snafes a lad of 21 into marrying her, part of the performance is to have the bride's mother sob around the house on the day of the wedding because her daughter is being "robbed of her girlhood."

A man buys a new hat because the old one is greasy or shabby. A woman buys a new hat because the style has changed.

A lodge emblem that is so big that it makes one side of a man's coat sag down never adds much to his importance.

A man never brags much about the prizes he won at Sunday school when he was a boy. But he doesn't mind letting you know that he led his own gang and stole apples and whipped all the kids in town. And he usually adds with a grin that he was a Devil among the Girls.

It may be embarrassing to a girl to have you look her over. But she would rather have you look her over than over look her.

WOMAN SUES MAN FOR 25 CENTS FOR THE DEATH OF HER HUSBAND.

Cleveland, O.—Suit for 25 cents for the death of her husband was filed in Municipal Court by Mrs. Helen S. Szalonita against Charles Leib, an employee of Theodore Kundtz. Mrs. Szalonita says her husband was a member of a benevolent society whose members are to pay 25 cents each to a widow on the death of her husband. The members refused to pay and the suit against Leib is to determine whether the money can be collected from the members.
